

MANAGEMENT IN INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL AND CAPITAL MARKETS

Fecha de Dictado: 10 al 13 de setiembre de 17 a 21hs.

Idioma: inglés

CONTENIDOS MINIMOS

The course has the main objective to analyze the Markets where Financial Assets trade, denominated generally “Financial and Capital Markets”. In order to do that, it will be necessary to know the different types of financial assets (stocks, bonds, etc.), the markets where they are purchased, and the principles to value them. This could allow to decide about financial investments, the financing of investments in real asset’s projects and to manage different kind of financial risks

PROFESOR RESPONSABLE:

Prof. Dr. Marc PIAZOLO

Education

- Current Position, Professor in Monetary and International Economics, Graduate School of Management (Zweibrücken), University of Applied Sciences Kaiserslautern (Germany). Ph.D. in Economics. University of Freiburg, Germany
- Master of Arts in Economics, Wayne State University, Detroit, US (scholarship); (GPA: 3.75).

Professional Experience

- Fall 2013 Visiting Researcher at Department of Economics, Stellenbosch University, South Africa (July 2013 - January 2014)
- Fall 2009 Visiting Professor at H-E-B School of Business and Administration, University of the Incarnate Word, San Antonio, USA (July 2009 - January 2014)
- 2003-2009 Dean of the Business Department, University of Applied Sciences Kaiserslautern, Germany, 1.500 students
- Dec. 1994 Country Economist for Africa, Indonesia and South Korea, Economic Research Department, Dresdner Bank, Frankfurt, Germany (additional to below: emerging markets modelling, capital market research, development of pension funds, member of the publications board and of the economic sub-committee for the standstill agreement with South Africa).
- June 1994 Economic Consultant, Economic Policy Department, Federal Chancellory, Bonn, Germany
- July 1993 Country Economist for Africa and the Middle East, Economic Research Department, Dresdner Bank, Frankfurt, Germany (country-risk analysis, country reports, publications, presentations).